

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT:

Ray Lucchesi

Silverton Consulting, Inc.

720-221-7270

info@SilvertonConsulting.com

<http://www.SilvertonConsulting.com>

Latest revision of Silverton Consulting's NAS Consolidation Storage Intelligence briefing now released

Broomfield, Colo. – Wednesday, Nov. 1, 2006 – Many network attached storage (NAS) users find that installing more NAS boxes while an easy solution to storage growth needs doesn't make administering the storage any easier. Sooner or later whether after the 20th NAS box or the 200th storage administrators begin to consider NAS consolidation alternatives as a better choice than just adding more boxes. Silverton Consulting's Storage Intelligence (StorInt™) briefing on NAS consolidation can help storage admin's choose their consolidation path better.

Ray Lucchesi, President of Silverton Consulting has revised his NAS Consolidation StorInt™ briefing to include the latest performance benchmarks for the most recent NAS product releases. A NAS product taxonomy is identified and explained which can help you determine which way to go when considering alternatives. NAS product features are explained with an eye to what's needed to provide the best consolidation solutions. StorInt™ features a proven and effective way to gain a quick introduction into NAS consolidation alternatives available on the market today. Ordering information for this and other briefings available online at <http://www.silvertonconsulting.com>.

ABOUT Silverton Consulting, Inc. - Silverton Consulting is a Strategy, Storage & Systems services company based in Broomfield Colorado offering marketing, engineering, and new product development process improvement services to data storage vendors and offering storage product selection, I/O performance tuning, design for data backup and new SAN infrastructures, and planning for storage consolidation and disaster recovery services to storage users.

###